Responsive to Integrated Development Services (RIDS)

Introduction

RIDS (Responsive to Integrated Development Services), a contraction for development package services, has been a unique facilitator for sustainable development. Started its journey as development consultancy firm in 1994 with a noble intention to provide solution-based services to the organizations working in the different areas of intervention and addressing the people's need. Our major areas of service are; conducting Baseline, Mid-term Evaluation, End-line Evaluation, Thematic studies and capacity building of the development organizations.

A highly experienced team of experts from local and expatriates having proven track record in their respective areas of expertise are involved with RIDS. Most of them are from renowned Research institutions, Development professionals, University Teachers, and other Experts on Socio-economics. We are well equipped in conducting both quantitative and qualitative study and thematic studies with application of appropriate approach.

Organization- RIDS

RIDS strive to be the partner of choice for development efforts in terms of conducting research and evaluation, and providing training on the tools necessary for independent research. RIDS served with more than 40 partners including Donor agencies, UN agencies, International and National development organizations, Humanitarian organizations, Research Institutions and the Government of Bangladesh.

Until June 2022, more than 290 assignments completed in which 64 are Baseline studies, 142 are Evaluation, 11 are Feasibility studies and 72 are thematic studies including action research and covered the areas of socio-economic, livelihood, micro-finance, food security, and nutrition, health, reproductive health, issues of disability, WASH, disaster and climate change, occupational Health and Safety (OHS), GVB, women empowerment, agriculture-based value chain programme, market system assessment, human rights and governance related studies.

We have track record of working with reputed International consulting firms of Asia (majority with Indian Firms), Europe and USA and successfully completed the assignment including Independent monitoring of multi-year integrated development project, implemented by INGOs and their local partners.

We use sophisticated technology for data collection and data analysis and have a highly skilled team of 350 male and female enumerators selected from different region of the country including hill districts. RIDS has its own logistics to accomplish multiple tasks at a time and handling large size of data collection.
